

Privacy Policy

Dove House Children's Advocacy Center is committed to honoring the privacy of our clients, supporters, and donors at all times. We collect and maintain only personal information that is specifically and knowingly provided to us by individuals or companies. Dove House will never rent, exchange, or sell information. We do not share or sell SMS opt-in, or phone numbers for the purpose of SMS. We will share personally identifiable information with a third party only if (i) we are required by law, (ii) it is necessary for completing an authorized transaction, or (iii) if the person submitting the information asks that it be shared. We do maintain records of our clients, supporters, and donors, which we regard as private and confidential and store securely with access limited to authorized staff.

There are opportunities within the website to provide Dove House with contact information. If you provide us with this information, we may contact you via email, phone, or SMS for additional information or send you updates on our operations. You can contact us to restrict our use of your contact information anytime.

In addition, like almost all websites, we do collect broad, general statistical information about how visitors use our site for the purpose of creating a better site for our community. We do not collect information on individual visits to the site without the expressed permission of the user.

There are links to other websites throughout our site for the purpose of providing more useful and complete information to our visitors. We do not take responsibility for the contents or privacy practices of any website other than our own.

Security Policy

To prevent unauthorized access, maintain data accuracy, and ensure the correct use of information, we maintain physical, electronic, and administrative safeguards to protect the information we collect online. We have taken all standard industry precautions to protect you from loss, misuse, or alteration of information that you provide us.
